*The work sofa
for cosy office spaces*

The friendly new face of your workplace

The emotional impact of se:works is based essentially on its intelligent functionality. It is sophisticated, modular and ideal for multiple uses. The modules can be used individually, or simply combined and connected to each other. The system incorporates bench elements with no backrest as well as armchairs, sofas and personal work-stations. These are available with or without visual and acoustic screens. The complete range of elements includes shelves, tables and cable management for power and data. The modular system of base elements offers unlimited options for the personalisation of the working environment. Each linear se:works module can be ordered to meet the specification of your space, exact to the nearest centimetre. So whether you are creating an open, modern workspace or an office in an historic older building, every working environment can be designed in an optimal way, to create whatever working culture is most appropriate for you.

Workplaces to feel good – feel-good places for work

It is no longer unusual to have a sofa in the office. Nowadays, many companies provide cosy seating areas. But that alone is not enough if you also want to boost the productivity of your employees. Sedus has, therefore, created something completely new with se:works: ergonomic and multifunctional upholstered furniture to make people feel at home in the office, whilst leaving no doubt that this is a place to work. Alone or in a team.

Relaxing efficiency

Armchairs and sofas are normally used for relaxing breaks, informal get-togethers with colleagues or as a place to concentrate without being disturbed. They make it quick, easy and inexpensive to create the right environment. As well as being customisable to your individual needs, se:works offers a full range of ready made configurations in a wide choice of materials and colours; from traditional layouts of armchairs and sofas, to circular, S-shaped or U-shaped configurations. Each seat can also be fitted with a screen. A choice of tables and shelves complete the range.

A platform for creativity

Whether people are videoconferencing, meeting as a team, holding informal conversations or just want to do some private work, the option of visual and acoustic screens for each seat creates zones where people can remain undisturbed. Ideal for all types of working environments, including central zones with frequent circulation, open plan and collaborative workplaces. Visual screening ensures people using the space are not distracted by activity and similarly do not disturb their colleagues. Users are able to use the sense of privacy around them to work in peace whilst enjoying the benefits of an open working culture. Materials and finishes can be chosen to complement other seating.

Waiting areas

Turns waiting time into quality time

Friendly reception areas should make visitors' waiting time as pleasant as possible. They also play an important role in representing a company's corporate culture. se:works does this flawlessly, offering attractive seating landscapes that provide a high level of comfort and functionality. With zones that provide privacy, encourage conversations, or which can be designed for reading and working. And with a wide range of shapes, fabrics, colours and accessories – you can create any kind of corporate identity.

Wonderful view of the work landscape

With se:works, ergonomic, visual and tactile qualities come together in a completely new way. The design featuring clear lines and balanced proportions conveys a sense of lightness. Elegance with function is reflected in the distinctive, carefully modelled upholstery curvature in the lumbar region, which supports the back. Premium fabrics and pleasing materials increase the comfort level and the skilled workmanship provides high-quality upholstery and accurate seams. Thanks to the wide selection of options and colours any preferred ambience can be created.

Minimalist: Backless benches are a simple, space-efficient option for people sitting for short lengths of time, with an attractive appearance and a high quality finish, such as leather.

On the table: A work surface can also be integrated into the sofa landscape. The Sedus collection of surfaces provides a wide range of different materials and colours.

Peace in sight

Sedus se:works focus is an innovative solution designed to meet the need for concentrated work. It offers a compact, complete workspace, as functional as a cockpit thanks to its attractive design, intelligent elements and visual and acoustic screening. The exemplary ergonomics with the curved backrest, encourages the change of posture and ensures relaxed sitting even over longer periods of time. This makes se:works focus the ideal retreat that offers a break from the desk. It works as a standalone solution or can be combined in a range of configurations to create quiet working zones. This can be particularly useful in noisy or busy spaces where concentration can prove difficult.
